TOBACCO GOING FORWARD.—The Evansville Journal states that boats from Green and Cum berland Rivers, londed with tohacco, experi ence considerable difficulty in finding sufficient room on the wharf to discharge their cargoes. The tobaceo accumulates faster than it can be removed by the large force of dray men constantly engaged in hanling it to the depot. All the tobaceo warehouses are full, and the railroad is employed to its full ca pncity in moving the staple Eastward.

At the final meeting of the Board of School Trustecs last evening a resolutiou em bodying the thanks of the heard to Geo. We are now four hundred yards out under the bottom of the sea, and twenty feet below the sea level. Coast-trade vessels are sailing over our heads. Two hnndred and forty feet helow us men are at work, and there are gallaries yet below that. The extraordinary position down the face of the cliff, of the engines and other works on the snrtace, at Bottallie is now explained. The mine is not excavated like other mines nnder the earth, but under the sea. Having communicated these particiculars, the miner tells us to keep silence and We obey him, sitting specchiess and nless. If the reader could only have beheld us now, dressed in our copper-colored gar-ments, huddled close together in a mere eleft of subterranean rock, with a flame hurning on our heads and darkness enveloping our limbs, he must certainly have imagined, with-above us and of the waves that are breaking on the beach beyond. The tide is now at the flow, and the sea is in no extraordinary stato of agitation, so the sound is low and distant just at this period. But when storms are at their height, when the ocean hurls mountain after mountain of water on the cliffs, then the noise is terrific; the roaring heard down here in the mine is so inexpressibly heree and awful that the boldest men at work are afraid to lar patches, over which water is drippi slowly and incessantly in certain places. The is the salt water percolating through invisible crannies in the rock. On stormy days it spurts out furiously in thin continuous streams. Just over our heads we observe a wooden plug, of the thickness of a man's leg; there is a hole there, and that plug is all we have to Immense wealth of metal is contained in the

No one knows what might be the consequence of another day's labor with the pickaxe on any part of it.

A ROUTHERN SUPERSTITION DISPELLED .-Citlzens of Lake Providence inform me, says a correspondent, that the town received its name from the following circumstances:

In 1812, when the Mississippi was in a tremendous rampage, and before the larger sort of levees had been erected along the Louisinna shore, the whole country, for fifty miles up and down, was overflowed. The people flocked together here, which was the onty spot of dry land visible for the entire distance. They are superstitions enough to believe that many places, much higher than this, were inundaplaces, much higher than this, were inundated, while the sito of the present village was saved from the ravages of the hig waters by a special dispensation of Providence. Immediately afterward, the town was laid out and received its present name, in connection with the large basin of water to the west of it. The town is, or will be, completely destroyed by the present flood in the Mississippi and crevasse cut in the levee. Nearly all the houses are already under water. A great deal of distress has been occasioned to the few families who ramained here after the general header. who remained here after the general hegirs which occurred previous to the occupation o

CONDITION OF ENGLAND. - The intelligen London correspondent of the New York Times thus discourses on the present condition of the hat Philadelphia will not get her college.

The condition of England does not seem to me at any time a hopeful one. It is pleasant enough for the aristocracy—the upper and wealthy class—who number 1,000,000. These ave anuple and insured incomes, and no ne-essity for labor or exertion. They have only o govern the nation with whatever wisdom ey may happen to have, and amuse them-lves. The great middle class of merchants ofessional men, clerks, &c., are also tolera well off. Of these there are no less than ony well on. Of these there are no less than 9,000,000, with incomes averaging $750 a year for each family, or $150 a head. Were the nation composed only of these teu millions, it would be a very comfortable one. But now we come to a lower stratum, the great laborg class of operatives, mechanics, and agri-litural laborers, who have no property, and are dependent upon their daily work for daily bread. They uumber 18,000,000, and their wages, in the best of times, do not average more than $4 a week, and this in a ountry where provisions are much denrer hau in America, and where the taxes amount o $400,000,000 per annum. The wages $400,000,000 per annum. The wages agricultural laborers are fifteen shillings a eek, on which a whole family must live, and if lost time is reckoned, they probably do not average $3 75 a week. Even some of the employes of the Government are poorly paid. Letter carriers havo from $3 75 to $5 a week. Policemen have $3 a week. The hetter class

ANOTHER BLACK MUSICAL PRODIGY. - The Vinchester, Virginia, correspondent of the saltimore Americao is responsible for the fol-owing: But have you heard of the prodigy onstrosity, phenomenon, or what you may ill it—io the shape of a little negro girl, supsed to be about twelve years old? She was ised somewhere near the eastern foot of the Hegheny Mountains, and was brought to this Alleghenv Mountains, and was brought to this place a few days since by a gontleman who got her for a song, as she was supposed to be almost idiotic, and consequently of little value. But her new owner soon discovered that she was passionately fond of music and possessed wonderful talent in imitating on the piano anything sho heard played. She would steal into the parlor in spite of the family or punishment, and having soon learned the scale, would perform the most astonishing imitation of any pieco that she listened to. Her impromptu music is most remarkable. She Is hideously ugly; thick-lipped, cross-eyed, money-headed, and all that; but when she sits up the instrument, and without any ranning up nd down the gamut, she throws back her lead, and her spare, claw-like fingers will ance about the keys, performing the wildest as at delightful strains. She seems perfectly est—infatuated, knews no stopping unless icked up and earried or dragged out of the cour. In five minutes after she is sound asleep, parently exhausted. The house is besieged ily and nightly by people, and her master talks of taking or sending her North—partly for her sake, and particularly to get rid of the crowd. Barnum could fill his pockets with her at the American Museum, if the excitement don't too soon kill her.

Romantic Marriage.—Major Rodman and Miss Buddington were married at Fernandina, Florida, on the 25th ult., after an acquaintance of only three weeks. The bride is the daughter of Captain Buddington, of Croton, Conn., who brought the ship Resolute from the Arctic Regions some years ags, while the groom is the Major of the 7th Connecticut Volunteers. Miss Buddington was in the South when the rebellion broke out, and remained with the rebels until four or five weeks. mained with the rebels until four or five weeks ago, when she was forwarded under a flag of aco from their lines to Fernandina, for the purpose of returning to her friends at home. Major Rodman at once became enamored of her; he proposed; the lady was not slow in manifesting her Union proclivities; and the result was a speedy wedding

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1863.

Suppose the next House of Representative at Washington puts to the appropriation hil the following provingons, or something to the Provided, That all negro troops be disbanded and no more employed.

Provided, That the President's proclamation of January be withdrawn.

I'rovided, All efficers and soldiers shall be torbidden to interfere with property in slaves in the Southern States.

Provided, The protection of the Constitution shall be extended by the army and navy over all persons and property of non-combatants who are held bound under the obligations of

The Senate reject and the House adhere to How will this self-styled Union concern in pass the hill without these conditions?

Let us come to the test. These elections can give us only one House—the popular branch of Congress. That House cannot repeal a law or make one, for that requires the concurrence of the Senate. If we had both the Senate and llouse, they could pass laws nullifying the whole Abelition programme; but even then, passes this House, and there is the only constitutional power we have to correct the evil.

We ask the organ, emphatically, will you use the power the hallot-box has given, and the only one? I have the control of the nly one?-Lou. Democrat.

Most certainly we will use all the legitimate power the ballot-box has given or shall give; out the ballot-hox can give under any circumstances no legitimate power voluntarily to strike down the government in the presence of the rebellion and let the rebellion trinmph. So much is self-evident. The destruction of the government is plainly not a legitimate mode of preserving it. We would use the power the hallot-box has given, and would use it through all the moods and figures of the adoption of conditions virtually such as our neighbor enumerates, but we would not use it to stop the war and surrender to the rehellien, if all these efforts should unhappily fail, and the power the ballot-box has given should prove not enough immediately to secure the annulment of the policy of the Administration. In this event, we would appeal to the ballot-box for more power, and endure the policy of the Administration until we got power enough to annul the policy without surrendering to the rebellion. But our neighbor in this event would surrender to the rebellion on the spot. Rather than wait a few months for a change of Administration he would consent to the destruction of the government. Not so would we. Rather than consent to the destruction of the government we would wait for a change of Administration. This is the difference between us. And this is the difference between the Union party of Kentucky and the secession party Let us look a little more particularly into the case as propounded by our neighbor. The ty; but the former appellation is, as the latter nation is struggling for existence with a gigantic rebellion which taxes heavily if not to the men, assume for a purpose when they have utmost the whole national resources. .. This is the great fact in the case. It stands out high above all others. In full view of this overshadowing fact, Congress, according to the supposition, proceeds to consider the question of furnishing the supplies necessary to sustaiu the nation in its struggle. The House is conservative. The Senate is radical. The House passes the appropriation bill with the conditious cnu:nerated by our neighbor, and the Senate rejects the conditions, sending back he bill without them to the Ilouse. Here a contest arises between the two branches of Cougress as to which shall give way to the other. In this contest, as we need not say, our convictions and sympathies and voice are ou the side of the conservative hranch, and we would by all means have it resort to every legitimate expedient to bring about the recession of the radical branch and the final adop tion of the bill with the conditions. But the Senate, maddened by fanaticism, and not imebellion to the defeat of the radical policy, ecomes certain that the llouse must either ecede or surrender the government to the the duty of the Senate to recede; but the Senate, trampling upon its duty, and possibly referring secretly the success of the rebellion to the defeat of the radical policy, will not reede. This is settled. The Senate has covered itself with ignominy and stands fixed in its undying shame. What shall the House do? Shall it follow the example of the Senate, join hands with the radicals who prefer the destruction of the government to the defeat of their policy, refuse likewise to recede, and thereby unite with the Senate in surrendering the govern- selves. This is as far as justice will permit tracedinary circumstances of the case, pass the farther, for we entertain nothing but the most appropriation bill without the conditious, and kindly feelings toward our neighbor; but we appeal to the people to finish at the ballot-box the good work they have begun? In other words, shall the House at this point call upon words, shall the House at this point call upon the people to change the policy of the Administration by changing the Administration

It is secession to refuse money to carry out the abolition programme.—Lou. Democrat.

KENTUCKY WHISK 1—400 bile young Bourhon is store and for sale by W. H. WALKER & CO. istration by changing the Administration itself, or shall the Houso itself undertake to change the policy of the Administration fusing money to carry out the abolition programme.

No; it is secession, under the pretext of refusing money to carry out the abolition programme.

No; it is secession, under the pretext of refusing money to carry out the abolition programme, to refuse money to carry on the war william.

in favor of the latter course. And so is the secession party of Kentucky. We are in favor of the former course. And so is the Union party of Kentucky. And so is the Northern Democracy. Time and again have we shown all this.

Nordo we admit that the position invites the Senate to hold out against the House. It is but saying that the insjority of the lloase are not traitors, of which, as it is fair to presume, the Senate is already fully aware. 'The fact is assuredly no secret. However, It there s indeed any imprudence in the matter, those who have forced the discussion, and not we, are responsible. GENERAL McCLELLAN'S REPORT .- The pre iminary report of the affairs under General

McClettan in the army of the Potomac, from the time he evacuated the Yorktown penin sula until after the battle of Antietam, which was dated on the 15th October last, has at last heen made public, and we presented it to our readers yesterday horning. As the report of the Congressional mmittee on the Conduct of the War has appearal simultaneously with the official report of the General, we shall be able to clear up many of the controverted points As to the surrender of Harper's Ferry, Gen. McClellan says he received a verbal message from Colonel Miles, on September 13, an nouncing the ahandonment of Maryland Heights and the concentration of his forces at the Ferry; the General sent three conriers in reply with instructions to Colonel Miles to hold out till the last, but he does not know whether these orders were ever received. Be fore he left Washington, General McClellan says he advised the withdrawal of the garrison at Harper's Ferry hy way of llagerstown, to assist in covering the Cumberland Valley, or else to retire it upon Maryland Heights where it could have maintained itself for weeks, but he adds: "It was not deemed proper to adopt either of these suggestions and when it was left to my discretion, it was too Inte to do anything except to try to reliev he garrison."

Gen. McClellan claims that the hattle of Antietam on September 17 resulted in a de cided victory. He says nearly two hundred housand men were engaged for fourteen hours u conflict, but our forces slept that night con querors on a field won by their valor and cov ered with the dead and wounded of the ene my. The night, however, the General adds, 'presented serious questions; morning brough with it grave responsibilities. To renew th attack again on the 18th, or to defer it, wit the chance of the enemy's retirement after day of suspense, were the questions before me. A careful and anxious survey of th condition of my command, and my knowledge of the enemy's force and position, failed to impress me with any reasonable certainty Provided, That the confiscation bill be, and of success, if I renewed the attack without Trovided, That a National Convention to adjust this disaster be offered to the Southern States, and that the war cease if the proposiand I felt that my duty to the army and the country forbade the risks involved in a hasty movement, which might result in the loss of | Slave States, and each having power to veto Kentucky or its representatives vote on these conditions? Will they vote against them, or will they vote for them, and then recede and val of my reinforcements, taking advantage of the occasion to collect together the dispersed, to give rest to the futigued, and remove nessed so as to head different waya." the wounded."

We trust that everybody will read the whole of Gen. McClellan's report as an act of justice to this great and admirable but much-abused inless we had two-thirds, we could not pass officer. This is the first time he has been As it is, this power that the ballot has given not following with energy the success he had us can only furnish a remedy in one way. An achieved at Anticiam strike us as sagacious appropriation bill can't become a law till it its garrison of several thousand men, he could have achieved greater success at Antictam. It will be necessary to read Gen. McClellan's report with attention in order to comprehend the matters at issue between him and the Committee on the Conduct of the War. Th latter have gone into investigacion at great his young woman to wife. extent, and their report is very voluminous We have not yet seen the document entire and from the extracts which have met our legitimate parliamentary warfare, to secure eye we are not able to form an opinion of the spirit which has animated the important military inquest. There will be any amount o hitter controversy over the subject, but a calm and candid examination of the military reasons and responsibilities which guided Gen McClellan, and of the facts which have been so industriously collected by his political adversaries, will enable us to arrive at a very satisfactory conclusion, and to place the blame

> The Editor of the Louisville Journal anxions to inculcate the idea that there are but two parties in Kentucky—the Union party and the Secession party; and he and his little square the Union party. We can inform hin that there is in this State a Democratic party—the largest party this State ever had in it.

of tedious and comparatively, useless campaigns at the door where it belongs.

Louisville Democrat. The only Democratic party now in Ken tucky is the Union Democratic party. The secession party, as we said in the remarks to which our neighbor alludes, now calls itsel the "Democratic" party, as several months was, a mere alias, such as parties, not less than made odious their proper names. The "Democratic" party with which our neighbor now associates himself is neither more nor less than the secession party of Kentucky. The true Democratic party Kentucky is the Union Democratic party. s with this party that our neighbor was associated from its formation until the las few weeks. It is this party alone that holds fellowship with the noble Democracy of the North. So true is this, as we have repeated! shown, that even Valandigham repudiates th doctrine of the self-styled "Democratic" party of Kentucky as being not only "moral trea son but very little short of actual treason is self." In our opinion, it is "actual treason itself," since it involves a deliberate surrende to the rebellion. Yet this is the "Demo cratic" party which our neighbor introduce with such a flourish and to which he now be ongs.

The Editor of the Democrat talks about possibly preferring secretly the success of the calling us an ab olitionist and proving it from lour own columns. If he wants to add one obstinately refuses to recede, and it becomes more absurdity to the list of absurdities which certain at last that the House must either pass he has undertaken to maintain as truths, we the appropriation bill without the conditions advise him by all means to adopt this one or strike down the government in the presence | He surely couldn't suit us better. But of the rebellion and let the rebellion trinmph.

Such is the case in its ultimate form. At this point what ought the House to do?

The shrely couldn't suit us octet. It is at this point that the issue between our neighbor should make his promised addition neighbor and us emerges. We are willing to to the list, we may or may not feel compelled go with him to this point, -the point where it to reproduce the facts connected with the "Sand Creek Sermou," including, possibly, that celebrated discourse itself. We say we rebellion. At this point, we repeat, what may or may not. We would by no means be ought the House to do? Undoubtedly it is understood as making any threat in the case Delicacy forbids the thought.

Be Our neighbor of the Democrat comlaius that we call him a secessionist. He is uistakeu in his complaint. We say he stands on the secession platform and acts with the ecessiou party. This we have proved And he has not denied it. But we do not call him a secessionist. We do not GOLDEN SIRUP-In whole and half bbis and keg call him anything. We point to his new position and his new associates, and let our readera characterize him for themcourtesy to jo. We would indeed gladly go cannot. prostrate at the feet of the rebellion? Our neighbor, who until recently derided the Ad the point. The abolition programme can't be por distilled, warranted a year old, for sale by w. II. WALLER & CO.

The Journal states five different positions, and forgets to mention that in one of them the Louisville Journal was their ally. "Then it declared in favor of neutrality, with the construction of independence." That position the Louisville Journal took at the time, as we are eady to prove if the Editor disputes it.

Well, we dispute it. I'rove it. We accepted Governor Magoffin's ambiguous proclamation of neutrality not with the construction of independence but with a distinct repudiation of such a construction. In short, we distinctly accepted it with the Union construction of neutrality. Our neighbor cannot have forgotten this, for, besides what we said in our columns, we personally urged upon in the propriety and wlsdcm of so counsel. The preelamation wrought no bad four per cent on those enbleof to ten days' notice of North American Fire Insurance Co. effect at the moment, as it was calculated to do, and as it might otherwise have done, and, when subsequently the secessionists put on it the mischievous construction of independence, they were made the more clearly to appear in their true character as political cheats and swindlers. Our neighbor seems now to remember the past as imperfectly as he comprehended it when it was present.

Destitution, desolation, and famine pervade the rebel States, while in the loyal States there is plenty, and no distress which is not the immediate result of the rebellion. The New York Times points to the significant fact, that, all through the terrible struggle for the life of the Republic, the work on the new Capitol has not been suspended for a day, not even when the enemy were intrenched for months almost within drum-heat, as one which will, hercafter, point the line of many a poet and historian. But it is not so grand after all as the other fact, that all of our higher class of benevolent institutions have still held on their blessed way with nearly or quite all their wonted strength and efficiency. Notwithstanding the detractions of the public mind hy anxieties for the fate of the country-notwith standing the great depression of most branches of trade and indusiry-notwithstanding the extraordinary calls made upon the people, and nobly responded to, in helialf of the soldiers and their families-vet the great philanthropi enterprises of that city, and of the North gen erally, have been sustained in their glorious work, almost as if it were a day of universal peace and prosperity. It is a singular and nost admirable feature of these "war times."

Although the Confederate newspaper and leaders so indignantly disclaim any desir ever again to have any political affinities wit the loyal States, Washington correspondent assert that some in that city, who are known to sympathize with secession, now arge, as pacific settlement, the adoption of Mr. Calhonn's proposed system of government. This he iudi cated in his last speech in the Senate of the United States. He desired to have a Dual Executive, or two Presidents, one chosen from the Free States and the other chosen from the the other's appointments and official acts. Well did Mr. Benton style this Utopian theory 'a plan that would not survive a single Congress. It would be like a pair of horses har-

The country, almost in the commence ment of the rebellion, was electrified by the order of General Dix: "If any man attempts to haul dewn the American flag, shoot him on the spot!" The same spirit should animate the people now, and if any man attempt to desert the Union cause, or refuses to fling to the breeze the banner of that holy cause, let him be riddled by the batteries of public indignation, thundered from the hallot-boxes.

A man in England recently refused to keep rehel army which attacked it, and, aided by his promise and marry a young woman, he cause, as he alleged in court, he had lost all his money at a foot-race.

Bar Goodwin & Wilder's gigautic l'olyora ma of the Wnr opened last night at Masoni Temple, and all present were abundantly pleased with the mnny beauties of this match less entertninment. Last evening the house was crowded to repletion. Every seat was occupied—tho aisles were crammed—every available standing place was secured, and hundreds turned away from the doors unahl to obtain admission. The popularity so sud denly acquired hy this exhibition is well de served. The painting is a noble specimen art, and vividly represents every scene of in terest connected with the great rebellion. The spectators last evening comprised many of ou most respected fellow-citizens, and we have never seen an audience better sntisfied. Each scene, as it is unrolled, rivetted the attention of the andience in breathless pleas ure, and, as some of the more brilliant repre sentations of the conflict were exposed to view the vast concourse of spectators hurst forth lnto renewed and vehement applause. Mr. Somerby earnestly and eloquently delineated the various scenes, and was frequently applauded.

We congratulate Messrs. Goodwin & Wilde on their success, and would urge an our readers to visit this nurivalled entertainment.

WOOD'S THEATRE.-We wore in error ves terday in saying that Mrs. Florence would porform the bride of Garryowen in the Colfeen Bawn. The fact is, "Billy" thought he had a strong hand in that drama, so he "played it alone," and held both bowers and new drama, Mrs. F. will produce the best of her protean pieces, Thrice Married, supported by Mr. F. as Vivian, and introduce various songs and dances. This combination is strong one.

OROANIZATION OF THE GENERAL COUNCIL. The two boards of General Council met last evening and organized for the ensning year. In the Board of Aldermen Mr. Arthur Peter was elected President, Mr. Oliver Lucas, Clerk, and Officer Harvey Seaton, Sergeant-at-Arms In the Common Council Mr. J. G. Baxter was chosen Chairman, and Mr. John M. Vaughar Clerk. The officers to the lower board were unanimously elected. The two boards adjourned to meet on Thursday evening.

Mr. Wastell, whose success as a maitr de danse has been so great in our eity, com mences his last quarter of the season on Fri day next. His school has afforded a most de lightful resort for the ladies, but ulthough th Masonic Hall is the largest room we have among us, he is compelled, in justice to the Interests of his pupils, to refuse admission to any visitors during hours of instruction, except those introduced by the patrons whose children he teaches.

NEW MUSIC .-- Mr. D. P. Faulds has jns published an introduction and four brilliau variations on the well known song, "Why do I love thee," composed by Katie Viglini, and dedicated to Miss Sydney A. Carll, of this eity. The variations treat the theme in andante, allegro, and adagio movements and as a march. They are very prettily arranged for the piano, and will prove favorites with all our amateur musicians.

11 has been stated upon the authority of a private letter from Nashville that Jack Trainor, of this city, had been found guilty of acting as a spy and dealing in contrabar goods, and that he had been sentenced to be executed on Friday next. So far from his having been sentenced, however, he has not ye been tried, but we presume there is little doub of his guilt. "

THE RECTION IN CINCINNATI.-The telegraph has already announced the success o the Union ticket at the municipal election to Cincinnati on Monday. Harris was chosen Mayor, Warren, Judge of the Police Court Gallagher, City Solicitor, Betts, Auditor Carnes, Treasurer, Gilbert, Engineer, and Straub, Attorney for the Police Court.

THE OLD FOLKS .- Mr. Warhurst, the agent of this popular troupe, has arrived in the city and is making arrangements for their appearance at Masouie Temple on Monday evening.

The report that Paymnster Lowry, o the army, died at St. Louis, on Saturday, is authoritatively denied by the New Albany Ledger. A contract to supply a large quantity of army beef was awarded at Evansville, Ind., on Saturday last by Captain Ehrman at five and a half cents per pound.

Fifty Tennessee refugees arrived in this city from Lexington by railroad last evening. Major Symonds will award contracts for a large amount of army supplies to-day.

McRean's Command .- A citizen of Carthage fenn, writes to the Nashville Union that h as conversed with an intelligent gentlema who has seen much of Morgan's brigade re ceutly. It is evident, he says, that there great depression in that renowned command John II. Morgan is a name that has lost much of its magic influence since his disastrous de ent at Milton.
